A photograph of a rocky creek in a forest. The water is shallow and clear, flowing over dark, flat rocks. The banks are covered in lush green trees and foliage. In the foreground, a young boy in a red shirt and blue shorts is wading through the water, wearing red and black striped socks. In the middle ground, another boy in a green striped shirt and grey shorts stands on a rock, looking towards the water. In the background, another person is visible further down the creek.
